

Discussion Topics: A Sense of Purpose

After filling out individual questionnaires and examining the student questionnaires, staff members, teams, book groups, and other groups should come together to explore these topics of discussion.

1. How many students in our school have a personal purpose in their life?
2. How can our school help students find a personal passion or purpose in their life?
3. How can we help students have stronger internal motivation for learning?
4. Do too many students in our school seem bored and apathetic? If so, what can we do about that?
5. How can we help our students see the relevance of their studies?
6. How can we help students and their families set long-term goals and develop strategies to accomplish their goals?
7. Do student perceptions differ from those of the school staff? If so, why?